RE: NAVAJO AIR TRANSPORTATION
Flight Operations

Navajo Air Transportation flight operations have been suspended until the arrival of the new aircraft. The anticipated date of the aircraft will be January 2018. However, one (1) month will be required for the pilots to receive their training in the aircraft. Air Transportation should be able to resume normal flight operations by mid-February 2018. The new aircraft will be able to reach destinations along the east coast of the United States, non-stop, in less than four (4) hours. When the aircraft arrive Air Transportation will host an open-house so the aircraft may be viewed and questions may be answered.
